Premier Borden, of Canada, Cannot Be Converted to Side of Its Adherents.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Albany, N. Y., February 23.—Robert Laird Berden, Premier of Canada, who is here as the guest of Governor Sul-zer at the executive mansion, declared to-day his unalterable opposition to

"I prefer to write out my answer." and taking a pad he wrote:
"Reciprocity was a very leading issue, but not the only issue of the "Reciprocity was a very leading issue, but not the only issue of the last election. It was not approved because it was inconsistent with the policy deliberately made thirty years ago and since carried out by both political parties. To-day the Canadian people are satisfied with the verdict given in September, 1911. That is true, indeed, of a very considerable portion of those who for party reasons voted for reciprocity. The verdict was not in the least inspired of any feeling of unfriendliness to the people of the United States, for no such feeling exists; on the contrary, a feeling of utmost friendliness and cordiality prevails."

ting ready to renew the fight at the next elections?"

"I doubt if we have any, until 1917. We have much fewer elections than you do in the United States. Of course the reciprocity party is talking, but opponents of reciprocity are still in the great majority. Surely the United States ought to be satisfied with conditions. Within the past ten years you have sold us $1,784,000,000 worth of goods, while we have sold you only $862,000,000 worth. You, therefore, see that the balance of trade is against us and in favor of the United States. Canada is the third bost customer of the United States. Canada is the third bost customer of the United States. Only England and Germany surpass her as such. You have erected a tariff of 43 per cent against us. Our tariff against you averages only 25 per cent."

Governor Sulzer in his conversations with Mr. Borden is understood to have urged a number of arguments for reciprocity, but the Premier says he will return to Ottawa a firmer opponent than ever.
